Presentation

ALL FOR ONE:

Teamwork - The Meerkat Way

'Working together' takes on a new look in this program and it is designed to change or reawaken the way we feel about safety- and help inspire a cultural step change towards an interdependent safety culture.

As a species, Meerkats should never have survived at all. They're tiny vulnerable creatures that live in an incredibly hostile environment full of savage predators. The fact they thrive is down to a single extraordinary talent: their ability to cooperate.

Beautifully shot by BBC crews in the Kalahari, "All for One" shows how Meerkats manage to survive against all odds in one of the world's most hostile environments.

Meerkats aren't big, fast or venomous (like their predators). But they continue to thrive because they work together better than almost any other species. That's what this presentation is all about. In addition to the beautifully filmed scenes is a program packed with insight - on everything from teamwork and inter-dependence to the safety instinct, the importance of communication and continuous improvement.

This is one of the freshest, most engaging safety presentations seen in a long, long time. Participants will discover "A Furry Guide to Safe Working" and the following key lessons:

- Step up to safety
- Be consistent
- Communicate
- Learn from each other
- No blushing
- Keep improving
- Co-operate
