RISK MANAGEMENT:

A Managers Guide to Risk

This presentation shows managers the steps to manage the risks in their environment, and how cracks may occur in the risk process which could threaten the organization's ability to achieve its objectives, and in some cases its survival.

It is a generic program designed for use and application in all industries and organizations for line management and in specialist areas including quality, health and safety and environment.

The presentation fully integrates with the AS/NZS 4360 Risk Management Standard and will provide an ideal tool for the committed risk management team to get the message understood across the organization to all managers.

The presentation will outline the 7 specific steps essential to the risk management process which include:

- Communication and consultation
- Establish the context
- Identify the risks
- Analyze the risks
- Evaluate the risks
- Treat the risks
- Monitor and Review

The AS/NZS 4360 Risk Management Standard has been adopted by the National Health Service in the UK, Canada, Korea and several other countries. ISO 31000, is currently in draft form and due for release in 2008 or 2009, shows very little difference to AS/NZS 4360.
